2. Course Details

Units of Credit (UoC)

Course Description

This course serves as an introduction to the Middle Ages, with special focus on western Europe and the shift from a Mediterranean-based civilisation to one centred in northern Europe. It aims to introduce students to the chief features of that world from Late Antiquity through to the dawning of the Renaissance. A great deal of attention will be accorded to social and cultural themes (especially in the context of religion), but will also focus on more “traditional” political history as well.

Course Aims

1. Impart an understanding of European history, approximately from 500-1500 CE
2. Introduce students to the historiography of the Middle Ages
3. Improve students’ ability to conduct independent research.
4. Develop critical reasoning skills, focussing on analysis of primary and secondary sources.
5. Improve oral and written expression.
6. Improve basic research skills.
7. Prepare students for third-year study, and create a deeper interest for history in general

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students should understand the nature of medieval history, culture and society from its ancient origins in the Mediterranean, to the fusion of northern European cultures and creation of a new European society. To apply this understanding to a broader understanding of world history.

2. Knowledge of European geography, focussing on the Mediterranean and Western Europe.

3. Ability to locate and employ a range of online and print primary and secondary sources in the construction of an historical essay (e.g., reference works, ancient texts, monographs, journal articles).

4. Ability to analyse and critically assess primary and secondary sources (online and print).

5. Improved facility for written and oral argumentation, including the ability to produce clear, lucid, and concise historical writing that is argumentative and analytical, not merely descriptive or narrative.

6. Appreciate a range of current historiographical perspectives related to the Middle Ages.

3. Learning and Teaching Rationale

Different courses at different levels require different approaches. This course will be centred on the standard two hour lecture and one hour tutorial format. Although this course has a large amount of lecturing, a far more important component of the course depends on you. The lectures often provide an introduction to a weekly topic. But tutorials will give students an opportunity to flesh out specific issues in greater depth as well as discuss how the issues reflect broader themes.

The nature of the lectures is meant to deliver a number of complex concepts and broad information in an understandable way. By nature it does not permit much interaction between student and instructor. The tutorial, however, allows students to have an opportunity to discuss in-depth the issues in lecture as well as other issues that might interest students. It is meant to be much more freeform and permit students to take a much more direct approach to what they learn. Active participation is highly encouraged.

4. Teaching Strategies

The two-hour lecture will deliver most of the course content, combined with prescribed readings to give students a good overall knowledge of the Middle Ages in Europe and the varying theories and approaches historians take to understand a historical period approximately 1000 years in length.

Tutorials will serve for students to analyse not only the broad aspects of Roman history, but also offer focused weekly topics, far more detailed and specific than the general survey of Roman history will allow.

1. The cut off time for the assessment submission in the School is 4pm of the stated due date.
2. Each essay must be submitted electronically via Moodle.
3. Essays will be marked electronically and grades posted online.

NOTE:
1. All assessments must be attempted. Failure to attempt the essays, or three of the in-class quizzes results in a final failing mark.
2. You must keep a copy of your essay submitted to the course coordinator.

Tutorial Essay: approximately 1,500 words (1650 max). The paper is to be submitted the week following the chosen tutorial meeting (30% of total mark): e.g. week three’s topic would be submitted week four. They are to be based on any of the tutorial topics between weeks 3-10, by Friday of that week. To be submitted electronically via Moodle.

Research Essay: This 2500-3000 (3300 max) word paper must be submitted on Friday 30 May. To be submitted electronically via Moodle. Students wishing written comments on their second essays must indicate they wish them on the essay or prior to submission in writing. Otherwise, they will receive a mark only.

Random Quizzes: At random times during the course of the session, five in-class quizzes will be given during lecture (5% each). They will take a short answer/sentences (25% of total mark).

Please Note: In addition to fulfilling the above assessment requirements, students are expected to attend at least 80% of their lectures and tutorials in order to pass the course.

Formal Examination

This class has no formal examination

Grades

All results are reviewed at the end of each semester and may be adjusted to ensure equitable marking across the School.

The proportion of marks lying in each grading range is determined not by any formula or quota system, but by the way that students respond to assessment tasks and how well they meet the objectives of the course. Nevertheless, since higher grades imply performance that is well above average, the number of distinctions and high distinctions awarded in a typical course is relatively small. At the other extreme, on average 6.1% of students do not meet minimum standards and a little more (8.6%) in first year courses. For more information on the grading categories see https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/academiclife/assessment/GuideToUNSWGrades.html

Late Submission of Assignments

Late assignments will attract a penalty. Of the total mark, 3% will be deducted each day for the first week, with Saturday and Sunday counting as two days, and 10% each week thereafter.

The penalty may not apply where students are able to provide documentary evidence of illness or serious misadventure. Time pressure resulting from undertaking assignments for other courses does not constitute an acceptable excuse for lateness.
6. Attendance/Class Clash

Attendance

Students are expected to be regular and punctual in attendance at all classes in the courses in which they are enrolled. Explanations of absences from classes or requests for permission to be absent from classes should be discussed with the teacher and where applicable accompanied by a medical certificate. If students attend less than 80% of their possible classes they may be refused final assessment.

Students who falsify their attendance or falsify attendance on behalf of another student will be dealt with under the student misconduct policy.

Class Clash

Course clashes are not permitted in this class.

7. Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is presenting someone else’s thoughts or work as your own. It can take many forms, from not having appropriate academic referencing to deliberate cheating.

In many cases plagiarism is the result of inexperience about academic conventions. The University has resources and information to assist you to avoid plagiarism.

The Learning Centre assists students with understanding academic integrity and how to not plagiarise. Information is available on their website: http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/plagiarism/. They also hold workshops and can help students one-on-one.

If plagiarism is found in your work when you are in first year, your lecturer will offer you assistance to improve your academic skills. They may ask you to look at some online resources, attend the Learning Centre, or sometimes resubmit your work with the problem fixed. However, more serious instances in first year, such as stealing another student’s work or paying someone to do your work, may be investigated under the Student Misconduct Procedures.

Repeated plagiarism (even in first year), plagiarism after first year, or serious instances, may also be investigated under the Student Misconduct Procedures. The penalties under the procedures can include a reduction in marks, failing a course or for the most serious matters (like plagiarism in an Honours thesis) or even suspension from the university. The Student Misconduct Procedures are available here: http://www.gs.unsw.edu.au/policy/documents/studentmisconductprocedures.pdf

10. Course Evaluation and Development

Courses are periodically reviewed and students' feedback is used to improve them. Feedback is gathered using various means including UNSW's Course and Teaching Evaluation and Improvement (CATEI) process.

11. Student Support

The Learning Centre is available for individual consultation and workshops on academic skills. Find out more by visiting the Centre's website at: http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au

12. Grievances

All students should be treated fairly in the course of their studies at UNSW. Students who feel they have not been dealt with fairly should, in the first instance, attempt to resolve any issues with their tutor or the course convenors.

If such an approach fails to resolve the matter, the School of Humanities and Languages has an academic member of staff who acts as a Grievance Officer for the School. This staff member is identified on the notice board in the School of Humanities and languages. Further information about UNSW grievance procedures is available at: https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/atoz/Complaints.html
13. Other Information

myUNSW is the online access point for UNSW services and information, integrating online services for applicants, commencing and current students and UNSW staff. To visit myUNSW please visit either of the below links:
https://my.unsw.edu.au
https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/atoz/ABC.html

OHS

UNSW's Occupational Health and Safety Policy requires each person to work safely and responsibly, in order to avoid personal injury and to protect the safety of others. For all matters relating to Occupational Health, Safety and environment, see http://www.ohs.unsw.edu.au/

Special Consideration

In cases where illness or other circumstances produce repeated or sustained absence, students should apply for Special Consideration as soon as possible.

The application must be made via Online Services in myUNSW. Log into myUNSW and go to My Student Profile tab > My Student Services channel > Online Services > Special Consideration.

Applications on the grounds of illness must be filled in by a medical practitioner. Further information is available at:
https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/atoz/SpecialConsideration.html

Student Equity and Disabilities Unit

Students who have a disability that requires some adjustment in their learning and teaching environment are encouraged to discuss their study needs with the course convener prior to or at the commencement of the course, or with the Student Equity Officers (Disability) in the Student Equity and Disabilities Unit (9385 4734). Information for students with disabilities is available at: http://www.studentequity.unsw.edu.au

Issues that can be discussed may include access to materials, signers or note-takers, the provision of services and additional examination and assessment arrangements. Early notification is essential to enable any necessary adjustments to be made.
